Authoritative Prophecy of the Outcome of the Present French Crisis.

Minority Vote Predicted for the Bourgeois Cabinet in the Chamber To-morrow.

The Moderates Are Awaiting an Op- portunity to Defeat the Government.

SENATE WILL APPEAL TO FRANCE.

New Legislators Will Be Elected, and President Faure Will Be Asked to Form a Ministry More Representative of Public Opinion.

By Julian Ralph.

Paris, Feb. 22.—I have just interviewed one of the most powerful diplomats of the French Republic and got an extremely important and authoritative understanding of the present state of the French crisis.

The official forbade me to disclose his name. "It is improper for me," he said, "to express to a correspondent an opinion on public affairs. I will say to you, however, in confidence, that there has been a great deal of flagrant defiance of law in Paris of late. I do not care to add transgression."

I asked the gentleman for some enlightenment on the present political situation.

"The crisis is far from over, he vouchsafed to say, "but one great thing happened when Senator De Mole made the bold declaration of the Senate from its tribune yesterday. That declaration in favor of the maintenance of the constitution and order was a milestone in the path of the quarrel between the two legislative houses. It was more than a milestone. It will prove an enormous pyramid across the path of the Chamber of Deputies."

"They cannot pass through that pyramid, neither can they move away from it. It stops the Chamber like a barrier."

I asked, "What is to happen next?"

CRISIS NOT YET OVER.

"The great man replied: 'The crisis is not yet over. Did you notice the Socialist newspapers last evening? What did they call the Senate's action? "Capitulation of the Senate," was the cry of the news-renders."

"Very well, then, if the lower house chooses to consider that a surrender they may deceive themselves and try to let the matter drop; they will not deceive any one."

No, even they realize, as all France realizes, that the declaration was a knife-thrust in the heart of the Bourgeois Ministry. They know that it meant the political death of Bourgeois and his Cabinet."

"If one Deputy in the Centre, or if one Moderate must rise and ask the President of the Chamber what action the Chamber proposed to take with regard to the course of the Senate, then you would see the end quickly."

"I mean to say the Chamber will not for the third time cast a vote of support for the Ministry. It will undoubtedly cast another vote, but the Government will receive a minority."

"But," I said, "would not that mean dissolution?"

FORGOT AN IMPORTANT PROPHECY.

"Oh," said my informant, "did I forget to preface my remarks by a prophecy of the dissolution of the Chamber? It will be dissolution, of course, when the Chamber falls further to support the Government."

"No new Cabinet can be formed out of the present situation; the Senate must be asked to dissolve the present Radical Chamber, then the country must be appealed to and a new Chamber elected in order to guide the President in the selection of a Cabinet more representative of French public opinion."

I gather from authentic sources that even if no Moderate will deal the death blow to the Cabinet on Monday by calling for the verdict of the Assembly, the Assembly will quickly seize the opportunity to defeat the Government by some petty bill, and this will hasten the natural end and bring about what my high authority called the reign of the peaceful, law-abiding working people of France.

DR. FRIEDMANN ARRESTED

Berlin's Greatest Criminal Lawyer in Jail at Bordeaux—End of a Strange, Eventful Career.

By Julian Ralph.

Paris, Feb. 22.—The news has just reached here that late this afternoon Dr. Fritz Friedmann, Berlin's greatest criminal lawyer, was arrested in Bordeaux.

It will be remembered that Dr. Friedmann fled the Fatherland last month in order to evade prosecution by the Berlin authorities for certain financial irregularities. It was at first supposed that he had gone to London and thence to America.

German detectives had traced him lately to Paris and thence to Bordeaux. As soon as the German Embassy here was notified they communicated with the French authorities, who instructed the Bordeaux police to arrest him. Extradition papers will at once be issued.

The disappearance of Dr. Friedmann caused a great sensation in Berlin, as his practice was a large one, and he was universally respected. His annual income was computed at 150,000 marks, which is considered very large in Berlin. Bourse speculations, gambling and the races and a generally fast life during the last year caused his downfall.

Dr. Friedmann's debts to bankers and merchants in Berlin are said to have reached colossal proportions. His effects were sold at auction not long since, but the proceeds of the sale did not liquidate 5 per cent of the obligations.

What shocked Berlin society more than all was the announcement that Dr. Friedmann's companion de voyage is a daughter of a notorious criminal whom he defended and saved from a long term in prison.

Mrs. Friedmann startled the Berliners also when, two weeks ago, she accepted the offer of the Wintergarten manager to sing in the concert hall, where she now proves the cardinal attraction.

The Morgen Journal prints a story in its Sunday supplement, entitled "Countess Lisa," of which Lawyer Friedmann is the author.

DOINGS OF BRITISH ROYALTY.

Queen Victoria to Entertain Many Guests at Windsor During the Week.

London, Feb. 22.—Lord Salisbury has been the guest of the Queen at Windsor Castle since yesterday. He to-day attended a council at the castle. The Duke of Devonshire, President of the Council, and Mr. Matthew White Ridley, the Home Secretary, were also present. The Queen signed a number of state papers.

The Queen will entertain a series of guests at Windsor during the next fortnight. Among those who will visit the castle are the members of the Cabinet, diplomats and two wives and children of her personal friends, such as the Duke and Duchess of Westminster and the Duke and Duchess of Bedford.

The rule is that these guests shall "dine and sleep," and the invitations are always worded in this form. The guests arrive at 6 o'clock in the evening, followed by the guests. At 8:45 o'clock dinner is served, and afterward all adjourn to one of the drawing rooms.

The Queen converses briefly with each guest in turn before retiring to her rooms. After the Queen's departure music and what are called "dinner dances" are given. The Queen breakfasts with the members of the royal household or in their own rooms. They leave the castle immediately after breakfast.

TORONTO MERCHANT'S SUICIDE

James Scott Jumps from a Bridge and Is Instantly Killed.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—Worried over the loss of $40,000 sunk in the Belt Line Railway of this city, James Scott, for many years one of the leading dry goods merchants of Toronto, today jumped from the "Second" bridge in Rosedale and was instantly killed.

In the dead man's pocket was found a piece of paper on which was written in a clear hand, "Wink! I do to be saved. I believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and therefore I am saved."

Several persons witnessed Mr. Scott jump from the bridge and their stories all show the act to have been premeditated. The man was seen to be in a state of mind to get on the safe side of the railing. The two men then separated, but Mr. Brown watched Scott and saw him hide behind a clump of trees. In a few minutes he saw the suicide walk back to the bridge and when near the centre climb the railing. He rushed to the rescue, but was too late, the unfortunate man having thrown himself from the guard rail.

Death must have been instantaneous, but the body was very little damaged, although both hips and ankles were broken.

Mr. Scott was interested in the Toronto Land and Loan Company and by the sale of the company he had lost $100,000 by the failure of this company. He was seventy-two years of age and came from Scotland, having lived in this city for many years. He leaves a widow and five grown children.

JOHN MORLEY IS ELECTED M. P.

And the English Liberals Won a Seat in Southampton.

London, Feb. 22.—The election in the Montrose District to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the retirement of J. S. Will (Liberal) took place today and resulted in the return of John Morley, who was Chief Secretary for Ireland in the last Gladstone Cabinet. The vote stood:

Morley (Liberal)..... 4,563
John Wilson (Unionist)..... 2,572

Liberal majority..... 1,991

The Parliamentary election in Southampton that was necessitated by the resignation of Tankerville Chamberlayne, Independent Conservative, who was unseated on technical charges of having violated the "Corrupt Practices Act," was held today. The result was a Liberal victory. There were three candidates in the field, Mr. Francis Evans, who stood for the Liberal interest; Mr. Candy, Queen's Counsel, who represented the Conservatives; and Mr. Gibson, Independent Labor. The vote was as follows:

Evans..... 5,537
Candy..... 5,522
Gibson..... 5,522

At the general election Chamberlayne's majority over Evans was 745. At that time there were five candidates for the seat, Conservative, Liberal-Unionist, Liberal and two Labor men.

INDIA MIGHT THUS BE LOST.

The Grounding of the Kanizer in the Suez Canal an Eye Opener to Britain.

London, Feb. 22.—The grounding of the German steamer Kanizer at Ismailia for several days, completely blocking the traffic of the canal to all but vessels of very light draught, has opened the eyes of the British Government to a serious condition of affairs.

The grounding of the Kanizer was doubtless due to pure accident, but it is now clear that if any large vessel was purposely run ashore at good speed or if the officers of a vessel should scuttle her or blow her up, the canal would be blocked until it could be cleared, an operation that would probably occupy three weeks.

In some eventualities such a delay in the passage of warships and transports might result in the loss of India to the British crown.

Three or four Italian transports, having on board troops to reinforce General Basterri, the Governor of Erythraea, who is directing the operations against King Menelik of Abyssinia, were detained at Ismailia, it being impossible for them to get by the Kanizer.

THEY WRECKED A CANDY STORE

Three Drunken Men Frightened Mrs. Sukers and Two Were Arrested.

Three drunken men entered the candy store of Mrs. Jennie Sukers, at No. 238 Delancey street, last night, and after frightening her and her husband with a revolver, which one of the men brandished, they proceeded to smash everything within their reach. Furniture and showcases were splintered and candy was scattered about the floor.

Mrs. Sukers's cries brought Officers Brann and Hayes, of the Delancey Street Station, to the scene. Two of the men were arrested, but the other escaped by a back window into the house of a neighbor named as Peter Stumps, of No. 204 Avenue D, and Richard Fleming, of No. 204 West Twenty-first street.

GREAT SECRECY OVER A BLUE BOOK.

Webster and Pollock Have Concluded Their Labors on the British Case in the Venezuelan Question, but the Result Is Jealously Guarded.

London, Feb. 22.—The most interesting feature in the weekly journals of to-day is a long article in the Saturday Review by Professor Goldwin Smith on "American Anglophobia."

The "Saturday," which was formerly the bitterest enemy in England to American institutions, literature, and ideas, has, since Frank Harris, formerly editor of the Fortnightly Review, required it, changed its tone completely.

Probably no other English paper, with the possible exception of the Chronicle, would have printed the following frank outpouring of home truths:

This is what Goldwin Smith says in part: "At the urgent call of their military advisers Americans are going to vote $50,000,000 for coast defenses. Of this expenditure the menacing presence of England is the sole cause. England has carried a road, avowedly military, all along the northern frontier of the United States connecting her with the naval station at Esquimaux. If a similar road were run by a foreign power along, say, the frontier of India, Englishmen would surely regard it with jealous eyes."

"Canadian jingoism, safe as it believes itself to be under the eyes of Great Britain, holds language to Americans very different from the language which is held in England, and upon every occurrence of friction lets them know that Great Britain has ironclads ready to bombard New York."

Canadian antagonism to the United States, which has its source in the British connection and is always appealing to British support, naturally affects Americans as much as Englishmen would be affected if Scotland were an American dependency and sustained by American connection in its antagonism to the rest of the island.

Till lately Americans rested in the belief, created by the concession of virtual independence to Canada, that Great Britain was gradually relaxing her hold upon the continent and that in due course the line of manifest destiny would be allowed to have its way; but Chamberlain proclaims that you intend to tighten instead of relaxing your grasp.

"While you occupy posts of vantage everywhere, dot the globe with your fortified stations, keep a navy which is to make you masters of the seas, you disavow ambitious designs and protest that peaceful colonization and protection of your commerce are the only objects which you have in view. But this does not tranquillize the mind of a jealous and uncharitable world. You assure nations that, though for purely economical purposes, you are resolved to be dominant, you equally resolved to be merciful, and the nation which they prefer on the whole not to be at your mercy."

"Your unpopularity may be a grand and glorious game, but if you choose to play it you must lay down your stakes. I wish there were reason to think that in relation to the North American continent it was a safe game, and that the explosion which has just occurred at an unfortunate moment was the last of the powder in that mine."

Though the London papers of the last day or two have been confining such attention as they pay to foreign politics to the French political crisis, the Venezuelan difficulty has not by any means been forgotten.

Prominence is given in all the papers this morning to the news of yesterday's informal meeting of some members of the Venezuelan Commission, at Washington, and the statement that the Commission is now awaiting the receipt of evidence promised by the British and Venezuelan governments.

The British case is ready now for publication. It is merely technical work, proof reading and so forth, which delays the issue of the Blue Book.

Sir Richard Webster has been called in to assist Pollock in stating the case from its legal aspect, and it is due to his insistence of several important changes that the book has been so long delayed. So at least I am told by a high authority, and I more readily believe it as it is nearly ten days ago since Pollock stated privately that his portion of the work was completed.

I may add that the precautions taken to prevent the tenor of the forthcoming blue book becoming known or any portion of it being published in advance are extraordinary. Nothing like it has been known since the printing of Gladstone's famous Home Rule bill, for an advance copy of which as much as $10,000 was offered without avail.

WAYS OF CONGRESS MISUNDERSTOOD

Neither Side Appreciates as Friendly This Government's Policy of Delay—The Vigilancia Aid Has Arrived Safely at Havana.

By Hurst Halstead.

Havana, Feb. 22.—The latest report from the battlefield announces the capture of the rebel leader Vnglesito by Colonel Seguras's column, operating between Guines and San Nicolas. It is announced that General Weyler will order a summary trial and perhaps an execution.

A rather more than customary flight of rumors and little extras highly unimportant appear with painful regularity. Now it is that a rebel surgeon is captured and then that Maceo or Rabi is slain, but the news is not confirmed.

It is seldom that anything can be confirmed.

The rebels have ceased to burn cane fields and harass villages for a change. This new departure is caused perhaps by the sheltering of peasants, who will not fight on either side.

Passengers by steamers from the west last night think they saw the light of great fires in the sky, but strange things that do not happen are seen when there is war in the air.

The rebels show activity in the province of Havana though they are still avoiding decisive actions. They have not realized all they fancied in their long march westward.

The chances are several weeks will pass before there will be positive results.

The proceedings of the American Congress, never intelligently reported, are causing much feeling. The ways of our Congress are too mysterious to be found out by the people of this island. Neither side appreciates as friendly our policy of delay. So much calm consideration is in this climate inexplicable. The Spanish correspondents are certain to send what Senator Morgan says, and we hear occasionally of Senator Lodge, and the Cuban sympathizers take unwarranted comfort in sayings of the insurgents, but the people here ought to be reserved in criticism of others, who hesitate to hurry.

The Vigilance, came in just when she was believed to have been lost. She was delayed, not by hurricanes, but by the Columbians, who landed from a steam launch at the historic wharf from which Hernandez de Soto sailed, and they captured many fans and cigars. They will wait to sea to-morrow, in time to celebrate Washington's birthday.

The Columbians, who did not find a burlesque in all their meanderings and enjoyed their cruise in the greatest ship ever seen in these waters.

FOREIGN NOTES OF INTEREST.

Brussels, Feb. 22.—The trial of Prince Charles of Luxembourg, a member of one of the most distinguished families of Belgium, upon charges of extensive and protracted swindling operations throughout Europe, ended today, the jury finding a verdict acquitting the prisoner. The defense set up a plea of mental weakness, which the jury sustained. The verdict, in view of the evidence against the prisoner, created a great sensation.

Constantinople, Feb. 22.—Dr. J. B. Hubbell, General Field Agent of the American Red Cross Society, and Mr. Ernest Mason, the interpreter attached to Miss Clara Barton's party, expect to start for Harpoot today.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 22.—The residence of Mrs. Rier, near this place, was destroyed by fire last night and her ten-year-old daughter was burned to death. Mrs. Rier and a boarder named Harris, who lived in the house, were not injured. Mrs. Rier made a heroic effort to save her child, but was unsuccessful. Harris ran half a mile to bare feet to obtain help, and then fainted from exhaustion and his injuries. The thermometer was 15 degrees below zero at the time.

London, Feb. 22.—In regard to the case of the Rev. George P. Knapp, one of the American preachers who is accused by the United States of having conspired with the movement among the Americans and who will go to Constantinople to represent the United States, the United Press learns that for some time there have been charges against him of inciting and stirring up the Armenians to violence.

The charges are undoubtedly made for the purpose of forcing Mr. Knapp to leave the country. His trial is being held at Constantinople, and the charges were announced by the Turkish authorities. Halli Rafta Rafta, the Grand Vizier, answered that he could not stop the case, but that he would send an American Commission going to Constantinople to examine into the affair.

A WORLD'S FAVORITE

Fashions May Come and Go, but This Has Come to Stay.

This season has brought many fashions. But hundreds of the styles which have come will as quickly go and be heard of no more. One, however, is sure to remain.

It is common to see any fashionable world as a desirable ornament; it was introduced for its usefulness by the middle class and adopted by the masses as a necessity of life.

It was a success, a success because it was a new fashion. This universal fashion is the full-length over-garment. When lined with warm fur it protects the body from the winter's cold; if made of checked water-proofing, it attractively shelters the Easter Lily from April showers. The Summer Girl travels immaculate from foot and dust beneath its dainty linen covering; the Mountain Maid, under its cloth draperies, shrugs her pretty shoulders at the autumn blizzards.

At all seasons it is becoming and adds to the attractive outwardness of feminine humanity. It is, however, not only in its attractive outwardness that common sense rules, but in the true inwardness of life as well.

Here is a case in point:

Some years ago the head of the most successful health institute in America, the "Invalids' Hotel and Sanatorium," at Buffalo, N. Y., set out to make a much needed discovery which should be founded on common sense and appeal to the common sense of common humanity.

This man, R. V. Pierce, M. D., author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," of which more copies have been sold than of any other book published in this country, had from his long experience as a scientific investigator, physician and student of human nature, become convinced that the American people lacked nervous strength. The very energy which enabled them to conquer a new land and develop it to the foremost rank among the powers of the world was, he said, proving a cashmaster which was driving men and women to physical prostration. Whether this prostration found its seat in the nervous system, brain, heart, lungs, stomach, kidneys, liver or blood—and whether it was called neurasthenia, dyspepsia, feeble weakness, "brain fog," insomnia, heart disease, or nervous prostration, Dr. Pierce reasoned, and very properly, that the cause was due to our high pressure manner of living. He found, furthermore, that these disorders could not be cured by the remedies of other nations or other times, but that these peculiar and hitherto unknown conditions called for a peculiar and hitherto unknown system of treatment. People who burned the candle at both ends did not need a stimulant, but a new means of strength, which could only be gained by eradicating new tissues, new blood and new nerve force. After long experiments, covering many thousand cases, he gave to the world his "Golden Medical Discovery" and the public Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. These differ from all other medicines, compounds, emulsions, tonics and sarsaparillas as bread differs from straw.

The combined use of these medicinal compounds supplies a most efficient and scientific course of remedial treatment that has proven marvellously successful in curative results in a great diversity of obstinate chronic diseases.

The aim of this common-sense physician and the object of his common-sense remedies, was not to give patients a course of "temporary physic," but to get to the root of disease and effect permanent cures. The result is that in every city, town and country of the land, Englishmen, farmers, mechanics and laborers, their wives, mothers and daughters, have taken his medicines into their homes, and that they are there as household goods. His "Favorite Prescription" is increasing the outward attractiveness and the true inner beauty of the "Slender Girl," the "Easter Lily," the "Summer Girl," the "Mountain Maid," the House Wife and Home Worker, because it supplies the needed nerve and brain force through enriched and vitalized blood, and thereby gives the true elements of new health.

And here Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is of purely vegetable composition and is perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. It exerts a wonderful soothing, healing and strengthening power over women's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic and builds up the system. It does not make too much of the system. It is an invigorating tonic and builds up the system. It does not make too much of the system.

Doctors' Mistakes.

Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and so help can come till they are made perfectly strong and healthy in both structure and function, which is brought about in due time, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. His "Golden Medical Discovery" is converting weak and weary, helpless and hopeless men, women and children into strong, vigorous, happy beings. The latter medicine is the great blood purifier, nerve food and flesh builder. Imparting nerve force and building up—not fat, but solid, firm flesh, when reduced below a healthy standard by overeating, indigestion, or other causes, it compels people more fat, but builds up the solid, muscular flesh to the healthy, or normal standard—thereby rounding out the form and figure and rubbing out premature wrinkles.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is an invigorating tonic and cures indigestion, or dyspepsia, "liver complaint" or "biliousness," and all other ailments of the all long standing bronchial affections, it is simply unequalled.

Serious illness often has its beginning in neglected little things. Even dread consumption comes on by degrees, and may begin with a very slight cough and a few days ago at a book stall here, for £171, a record price.

JOHN SEBASTIAN,
Gen'l Pass, Agent, Chicago, Ill.

cases of consumption can be cured. Taken in time, no disease need be really serious. The best safeguard against disease is an active, healthy liver. That means

GOOD, SOLID, HEALTHY FLESH.

The germ of disease seek out the weak spots in the body. Don't have any weak spots. If you have them now, clear them out, and then up, make them strong. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do it. It searches out all poisonous matter and discharges it from the system, and puts new life into every fiber.

Two doctors failed to cure Mrs. H. Price, of No. 413 Birch Street, Reading, who suffered from severe disease of womb after childbirth. She suffered intensely from pain in her thighs, hips and breast, also in lungs; was badly constipated; had no appetite, could not sleep, was extremely nervous; and blood poisoning. Dr. Pierce, who advised his "Favorite Prescription," four bottles of which completely cured her.

Mrs. A. R. Norman, of Red Fork, Creek Nation, Ind. Territory, writes: "After a great deal of suffering for four years, which grew worse, my physician said my chief ailment was ulceration of the womb—also a complication of ailments, pains in lower parts, aching of back, etc. Six months ago I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Have taken several bottles of each also his 'Pleasant Pellets,' and am now nearly restored to my usual health."

Mrs. Mary J. Stewart, of P. O. Box 46, Saratoga, Santa Clara Co., Cal., writes: "I suffered for fourteen years with female weakness, nervousness and general debility, trying everything to help me I could find—all to no avail."

"I then heard of Dr. Pierce's medicines, and although I was thoroughly discouraged and disgusted with taking medicine, I thought I would try once more to find relief. I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription,' and too great praise can be given for the rapid relief they gave me. I am now free from the former troubles, and may God bless Dr. Pierce in all his undertakings to cure suffering humanity."

A WONDERFUL EXPERIENCE.

Mrs. James Gathfield, of No. 77 Mary St., Hamilton, Ont., Canada, writes: "Last winter I had a very severe attack of grip, got better, but did not get well. In the Fall I lost my health entirely. I had cold chills, fever, night sweats and a violent cough; when I was lying down I was nearly smothered. I did not get much rest night or day. I failed rapidly. I sent free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, or the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is president, this little COUPON NUMBERED (221) one—cover coat of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one great volume, it contains over 1000 pages and more than 200 illustrations. Several finely illustrated chapters are devoted to the various common diseases peculiar to women and their successful home-treatment without the aid of a physician and without having to resort to drugs, "examinations" and the stereotyped gynecological applications," so repulsive to the modestly sensitive woman. The five editions of the same book, the heretofore sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong paper covers instead of cloth. If French, cloth-covered, embossed and stamped covers are desired, send 10 cents extra—31 cents in all, to cover only the postage and the extra cost of the durable and beautiful style of binding. Send NOW before all are given away.

When Dr. Pierce published the first edition of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold, he would reduce the price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which he would devote entirely to the immense amount of labor and money expended in producing it. He would distribute the next half million free. As this number was sold, he is now giving
